

“My brother, Elias, and I attended Conklin Building Products Training together and now run our own roofing business where Elias primarily handles sales and customer service while I serve as project manager. We have more than doubled our business and earned a prominent place in the roofing industry using Conklin Roofing Systems, in addition to developing other contractors.”

– Matthias R., Pennsylvania

Conklin pioneered elastomeric roof coatings over 35 years ago.

Ongoing research and development has kept us industry leaders. Now with over 2 billion square feet applied, our systems have set the standard for the coatings industry.

- Our reputation for quality attracts building and roofing contractors to add Conklin Roofing Systems to their business.
- Many of our contractors achieve lower labor costs and less overhead while earning increased profit.
- With such demand for Conklin products, contractors have a great opportunity to earn extra income by introducing other contractors to Conklin Roofing Systems. In fact, many of our top managers first built successful roofing companies and then used this experience to develop their own Conklin business.
